

CHECKLIST OF BIRDS

Celery Farm Natural Area

Allendale, New Jersey

This checklist includes 248 species of birds that have been observed at the Celery Farm Natural Area. Fifty seven (57) species are known to breed, or have bred, at the sanctuary.

The Celery Farm Natural Area, over one hundred acres, of fresh-water marsh and woodland, was acquired by the Borough of Allendale in 1981 with assistance from the New Jersey Conservation Foundation and financing from The New Jersey Green Acres Program. The Fyke Nature Association has volunteered to maintain and improve the refuge.